

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Provided herein is a substrate processing system, which comprises a cassette load station; a load lock chamber; a centrally located transfer chamber; and one or more process chambers located about the periphery of the transfer chamber. The load lock chamber comprises double dual slot load locks constructed at same location. Such system may be used for processing substrates for semiconductor manufacturing.